With our rich, 50 plus year school history, Station Campus continues to inspire all students to maximize their full potential as learners and citizens. Our thoughtful staff considers the whole child and works to create an environment that is challenging and supportive, while providing students with ongoing feedback. We pride ourselves in establishing a welcoming environment for all families and maintaining open lines of communication. Station is a diverse family and we find strength in knowing that we are navigating a new landscape not alone, but rather, together as one.

School History
Barrington Middle School-Station Campus is one of two middle schools in the Barrington 220 School District. Station Campus opened in 1966, on grounds that were once a chicken farm. Previously named “The Barrington Middle School”, it was one of the nation’s first middle school campuses serving grades 6-8. After the creation of Barrington Middle School-Prairie Campus, “The Barrington Middle School”, was renamed “Barrington Middle School - Station Campus”. The name of the school comes from the proximity to the train station and today Station Campus is known for its excellence in education, innovative programs and supportive community.
